

Men's Reproductive Health

Dear Reader,

I hope you enjoy this sample issue of Men's Reproductive Health.
But don't miss the Fall '87 issue featuring:

- How to market contraception to men of all ages
- FCC labels an AIDS radio program obscene
- BCRR update and where do men fit in future Title X funding?
- APHA conference schedule for MRH events
- Vasectomy update

I cordially invite you to subscribe to this quarterly newsletter Men's Reproductive Health. Consider how this publication can help you better serve your clients. I think you will agree that it is a very valuable resource.

Men's Reproductive Health, is designed for the busy health care professional or educator who wants the latest news about men's reproductive health program delivery, male sexuality issues, sexually transmitted disease prevention and birth control method information for men of all ages.

Men's Reproductive Health is unique. It focuses on the practical aspects of health care delivery and health education. This quarterly newsletter is written by experts in the field and offers you comprehensive information and resources found in no other publication.

MEN'S REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH brings you:

RESOURCE REVIEWS

of books, curricula, films, pamphlets, pelvic teaching models, and other educational media.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATES

about public policy on men's reproductive health issues and funding.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTIONS

and tips from successful men's reproductive health projects.

CALENDAR

of upcoming training events and conferences.

APHA TASK FORCE REPORT

from the Population Section's Task Force on Men in Family Planning and Reproductive Health.

Don't miss another issue. Subscribe today! Just $20 for an annual individual subscription and $30 a year institutional rate. Send your name, address and phone number with a check payable to Men's Reproductive Health to: PO Box 661, Capitola, CA 95010. Agency purchase orders are accepted.

Sincerely,

Douglas Beckstein
Publisher

P.O. Box 661
Capitola, CA
95010

(408) 427-3628